Salisbury Water Wagon.

London, Jan. 13.—The beer canteen at Salisbury Plain camp has now been closed just over a week and a chaplain belonging to the contingent who would be greatly acknowledge as far from a bigot in matters of temperance, states that the improvement in general health of the contingent during the last ten days has been simply marvellous. On the first day of the "no beer" regime, he says, half a dozen regular customers of the canteen presented themselves to be served and the improvement ever since there has been a steady stream of men to do likewise. The closing of the canteen incidentally has synchronized with the undertaking of much heavier work in brigade movements.

Correspondence.

The following has been received from the Salvation Army Headquarters at Calgary:—

The Rev. J. P. Berry, Crossfield.

Re XMAS RELIEF.

I wish to thank you and your Sunday School children most sincerely for the very generous way you came to our assistance by contributing provisions, poultry, clothing and the sum of $1.35 towards our Xmas relief. Also your thoughtfulness in paying the expressage of $2.50 on the goods in question.

We are preparing a statement, a copy of which we expect to send you in the course of a few days, but in the meantime I am sure it will interest you and the children to learn that up to the end of last month we received the sum of $1,822.38, in addition to a large supply of provisions and other goods. This generous response to our appeal enabled us to send out 300 baskets of provisions and deal with scores of other deserving cases in various ways.

On behalf of the many needy families which the gifts from you and the dear children helped to make happy this Xmas season I tender my most sincere thanks, and pray that God will abundantly bless you all.

Yours sincerely,

FRANCIS HOWELL.

P.S.—One of the boxes of poultry was sent to our house. Please the lameters of which, but for your gift, would not have had such a happy Xmas.

Alberta Flour is Said to be Reaching Foo.

It is probable that the Government will institute an inquiry into the alleged exploitation of Alberta and Saskatchewan flour, via New York to Scandinavian ports for German consumption. That such a condition of trade existed had not hitherto been brought to the government's attention, but the report from New York is considered to be sufficiently disquieting to merit consideration and investigation.

Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, says that it would not be difficult to trace such consignment from Canada to New York, and to the Scandinavian destination. Further than that the matter would have to go in bond owing to the heavy duty. It would, therefore, be a simple matter for customs officials to ascertain the volume of such trade. Such consignments, of course, would not be booked for Germany direct, if the volume of the export, to whatever neutral port might be chosen, were abnormal, there would be just cause for suspicion as to the ultimate destination of the consignment. There is a strong feeling here that is view of the rise in price of flour both in Great Britain and the United States every effort should be made to prevent Canadian wheat reaching the enemies. If it is found that the trade is being engineered by Canadian residents there will be serious trouble for them.

The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to sleep peacefully. If you cannot see any good in this world, keep the bed to yourself. Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile. No one cares to hear whether you have the carache, headache or rheumatism. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. The good humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is a nuisance to all.

The Dance at J. Neirs'

The popularity of Shorty's place was quite evident by the large assemblage which gathered at that well known dancing centre, at the dance in aid of the Agricultural Society, on Friday evening last. Sixty couple or over being in attendance, and the very creditable sum of $40 was netted for the Association. While the space available for dancing was at all times crowded the evening left nothing to be desired from a social standpoint. The ladies did themselves proud on the catering. The thanks of the Society are due Mr. Neir and the committee in charge for the very able manner in which the affair was conducted. Let us hope other districts will fall in line and assist the association in a like manner.

Amongst those present were couples from Carstairs, Airdrie and several other distant points.

A Significant Inquiry Touching the Iron and Steel Industry

In the "Daily Iron Trade" of Cleveland, Ohio, appeared an editorial relating the receipt of a letter from a subscriber in Texas who sought information which would enable him to get in touch with British and European exporters of the following iron and steel products: Wire nails, barbed wire, pipes, corrugated sheets, bars, plates, structural steel, bolts, nuts, rivets, rails and spikes, fire brick, pig iron and coal and coke.

The editor calls attention to the fact that this inquiry has resulted through the tariff on steel products being reduced to nearly the zero mark, and that these foreign products would be Coming as it does at a time when the steel industry of the United States is running about one-third of its capacity and thousands of its employees are walking the streets looking for work, this item provides food for thought for those in Canada who would still further hamper the iron and steel industry of this country by throwing their products open to competition from the whole world. If for no other reason than that it would keep the iron and steel workers employed on full time the Government should view favourably a policy of reasonable encouragement for the iron and steel industry in this country.

Conserve the Breeding Stock.

Everyone knows that trade conditions and commercial enterprise have suffered a very serious and unexpected upheaval during the past year. To this situation the war has, of course, largely contributed; but other causes, including the general financial depression throughout the country, have been operative for some months past. The agricultural industry has, naturally, been very widely affected by these changing conditions and by the varying situation with respect to demand and supply. The rise in the price of grain, together with the corresponding flip to grain production, represents, without doubt, the most outstanding feature of the direction which has been given to agricultural activity.

We need, perhaps above all things else, sane, level judgment in the judgment in the conduct of our agricultural affairs during the coming year. It is to be expected that grain production will be largely increased. The raw products of the soil are, and will be in demand at remunerative prices. What then is to be said, what course is to be followed, with respect to the breeding of live stock?

The high price of feed, on the one hand, and relatively low prices for market stock on the other, have resulted in very heavy marketing throughout Canada, particularly in the Western Provinces, of the stock suitable for breeding purposes. Perhaps this was inevitable, but will these conditions continue? Feel grain will, without doubt, be high in price, but it must never be overlooked that the country can maintain very large numbers of live stock on the enormous quantity of fodder which it can produce. To waste this, for the sake of the grain which can be grown, would, under present circumstances, be criminal neglect. It is clear, then, that the country should conserve its breeding stock. If grain has to be grown for sale it is recommended that plans should be carefully thought out as to the manner in which the greatest quantity of rough fodder may be made available for feeding purposes and as to the means by which this otherwise waste product, together with the screenings and unsaleable grain may be utilized to the best possible advantage. In other words eliminate waste. Do it by feeding live stock.

The present low prices for stock cannot last long. A careful review of the world situation makes it clear that there will be a shortage next year. Europe is becoming seriously depleted in both breeding and feeding stock. The United States, for ten months of the current year at its leading markets is short 746,045 cattle, 208,000 sheep and 1,894,930 hogs. Canada has, as before stated, heavily liquidated her breeding animals, and while it may possibly maintain its quota this year of cattle and sheep, it is doubtful if more than 75 per cent of the number of hogs will find their way to the market in 1915, as compared with last year. It is, therefore, a time for live stock men to stay with their trade. The present tendency is of course all the other way. A safe harvest is likely to be reaped by those who have stock for sale this year. Even bankers and business men are of this opinion. Be sure to conserve your breeding stock.

Modern Armaments Yield to Weather.

Story of Present War Does Not Differ Much From Old Campaigns.

Throughout the area of the great war, the weather from day to day is playing its part in the campaign. Modern military tactics; modern armament; modern methods of all kinds, have not in any way eliminated the weather element as a factor of the greatest importance. The story of the present war does not, thus far, read so very differently from that of the stories of previous wars in the same countries. In 1586, the Spanish, as related by Motley, encountered such terrible rains on the Meuse that they retreated. A previous fall of Namur, in 1692, was largely due to heavy rains which prevented the English from crossing the river and meeting the besieging French army. The English in Flanders in 1705-09 endured great hardships on account of deep snows, which blocked the roads. The cold was intense and the troops, who were short of firewood, suffered severely. The Duke of Marlborough wrote (1708): "Till this frost yields we can neither break ground for our batteries nor open our trenches." The French, in Poland, in 1806-07, found mud three feet deep; drowning rains; driving sleet; melting snow and icy streams. In the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71 over the same historic ground in France, we read of torrential rain, icy roads, muddy fields, and of suffering on account of cold.

So the story goes on from age to age, from one war to the next. War and the weather: they are related to-day, as they were in the past, physically, physiologically, psychologically, as they will be until war shall cease.

One step won't take you very far—you've got to keep on walking; one word won't tell you what you are—you've got to keep on talking; one inch won't make you very tall—you've got to keep on growing; one little "ad" won't do it all—you've got to keep 'em going.

Hockey Notes.

On Saturday last, the first Hockey game of the season was played at the Crossfield Skating Rink, Eastern Cannibale vs. Western Savages. The game was called for 3 o'clock, but owing to the Savages being two men short, it was postponed until 3.30.

At exactly 3.30 the Referee called the players to the ice, and the game commenced. Both teams were very evenly matched, and it looked for a time as though neither side would score. The Cannibale, however, after a brilliant rush succeeded in finding the net, and a few minutes afterwards time was called.

The second period was the best part of the game to watch, neither side being able to score, although rush after rush was made and checked by both sides.

In the third and last period, the Cannibale again scored, and then the Savages woke up, scoring three beauties in short order. Shortly afterwards time was called, making it a win for the Savages of 3 to 2.

Next Saturday, at three o'clock, the Savages will play the town Scrubs. Come and bring your friends. A good game is expected.

It is as a general rule conceded that to a great extent the mother makes the home yet altogether too few of us realise this regarding ourselves. Are we not too prone to look at and criticise others while our own methods are in need of improvement? It is like seeing the mote in a brother's eye while the beam is in our own. Very few of us can scan our neighbours without finding many things upon which we could improve.
